

Among the great masters of music: scenes in the lives of famous musicians : thirty-two reproductions of famous paintings with text

A series of twenty-one sketches of as many great composers, or performers, such as Palestrina, Bach, Handel, Mozart, Haydn, Beethoven, Schubert, Paganini, Mendelssohn, Chopin, Wagner, and Liszt. The important biographical dates and facts are given in each case, but the authors purpose is more to relate anecdote and to open glimpses into the musical nature and career of his subjects. Its contents appeal to readers fond of music and musical history.

-The Literary World: A Monthly Review of Current Literature, Volume 31, January, 1900 Music is the link between spiritual and sensual life.--Beethoven And while we hear The tides of Musics golden sea Setting toward eternity, Uplifted high in heart and hope are we. --Tennyson Music in the best sense has little need of novelty, on the contrary, the older it is, the more one is accustomed to it, the greater is the effect it produces.--Goethe Music is a kind of inarticulate, unfathomable speech, which leads us to the edge of the infinite, and lets us for moments gaze into that.--Carlyle
