

MANAGEMENT OF DIARRHEA WITH EASTERN MEDICINES: EFFICACY OF COMPOUND HERBAL DRUG DIRASIF IN SECRETORY DIARRHEA

Diarrhoea represent a major health problem in developing world. It has been estimated that diarrhea claims about two million deaths per year, ranking third among all causes of infectious disease deaths worldwide. Most of these deaths occur in children under five years of age. Eastern medicine is a group of diverse health care systems. There are many Eastern medicines used to treat diarrhea. The information presented here is based on published research, a lot of which is based in developing countries where diarrhea is a serious and common problem. Hence, this book will provide its reader a better understanding about all the aspects of diarrhea particularly its management under the principals of Eastern medicines which are quite life saving and easily understandable.
