

Near You: Francis Craig, Dean of Southern Maestros with CD (Audio) (Tennessee Heritage Library Bicentennial Collection)

Often, Nashville is associated primarily with country music; however, Francis Craig and his orchestra were a fundamental part of the thriving Nashville popular music tradition. In this biography, Robert W. Ikard provides an entertaining account of the man who had the first recording hit out of Nashville. In 1947, Craig composed and recorded Near You, which boosted his fame nationwide. Near You sat on Billboards chart longer than any other song in history, and the song helped launch Nashville's recording industry. The book details Francis' beginnings as son of a clergyman, his days at Vanderbilt University during which he wrote the university's original fight song, his glory days as a popular band leader with many years association at local radio station WSM and his work with well-known musical figures such as Dinah Shore, Snooky Lanson, and Kitty Kallen. The book's price includes a CD of Near You and other works as well as collected interviews and commentary. A discography and extensive notes are included in the back of the book.
