

Running: The Ability Chronicles

Li has never had an easy life. Like most teenagers, she's had to worry about school, friends, family, and other normal things everyone thinks about. Unfortunately, she also has to worry about the organization bent on hunting her down and capturing her. Unlike most teens, Li has a secret her family's been trying to keep since she was just a child - and she isn't the only one who has to hide such a secret. With the help of others with abilities, Li tries to run from an organization who would like nothing better than to take away her special gift, rendering her the same as every other human being on the planet. By capturing her, they'll be able to cure all others like her, and end the cycle of the people with abilities. Li managed to escape for now, but how long can she keep running?
